About Us

About Henna

Henna, originating from the arid regions of North Africa and the Middle East, has long been an integral part of South Asian culture. Known as 'Mehandi' in the Indian subcontinent, its use is deeply rooted in wedding rituals and festivals. Marigold Design, a creative studio, has meticulously researched and documented the history, application, and cultural significance of henna. These designs are a blend of traditional patterns and modern aesthetics, inspired by nature and heritage. Our designs are not just decorative; they are a celebration of culture, identity, and artistry. We are committed to providing high-quality henna services that honor tradition while embracing contemporary trends.

About Me

My name is Tanvi Bhat, a South Asian henna artist based in Amherst, MA. Over the past few years, I have been honing my skills, specializing in traditional henna patterns and modern, personalized designs. I have been featured in local media, including the Amherst College News and the Amherst College Student. Through my work, I aim to celebrate the rich cultural heritage of henna and provide a unique experience for my clients. I am passionate about sharing the beauty of henna with everyone who loves it.
